Kresge Prepares for Opening Of New Marion Store Friday

Remodeled Building To House Retail Outlet; Quarters Now Have 80-Foot Frontage with 130-Foot Depth.

The S. S. Kresge company's enlarged combination five cents to one dollar store at 143 West Center street, under construction since April, will hold its formal opening Friday. Doors will be opened at noon. The store has been doing business while undergoing renovation, but will be closed all day Thursday and Friday morning in preparation for the opening.

The new store composed of one large room, includes quarters previously occupied by Kresge's and two adjoining firms, the Red Robin shop and the Gallaher Drug Co. Those stores, sub-let by Kresge's since 1942, occupied part of the property leased by Kresge's in 1925. Owners of the property are the Marion Y.M.C.A. and Mary F. Kull.

Increased Frontage

The new store will have an increased frontage of 40 feet, giving it an 80-foot front in all, with a depth of 130 feet. The 40-foot addition includes two stories and a basement. The front's exterior is constructed of vitreous enameled steel, stainless steel and window glass, beveled at the entrances. The upper floor is fronted with face brick.

Interior changes include new counters and wall fixtures, fluorescent lighting, magnesite floor, a 67-foot luncheon counter with 38 stools and an 18-foot standup root beer bar and doughnut department. Candy, hardware, kitchenware, records, notions, dinnerware, gift wrappings and party goods are new departments.

The second floor includes offices and employes' quarters and a public lavatory. The basement is used for storage. Labor-saving devices such as a basket chute, toumain dumbwaiter, merchandise dumbwaiter, inter-office communicating system, and public address system have been installed.

Direct Remodeling

The remodeling job was done under direction of Engineer James A. Clarry. G. C. Hill is district merchandise superintendent and W. P. Brown store manager. Mr. Brown came here as manager in 1942 and has been with Kresge's since 1925. Before coming to Marion, he managed Kresge stores in Portsmouth, O., Newport, Ky., and Hamtramck and Detroit, Mich. He lives at 333 South Grand avenue with his wife, two sons and daughter.

Assisting him will be Assistant Store Manager Charles G. Lannoye and Floorman Donald E. Cornell, both of whom recently returned from military service. Mr. Lannoye has been a Kresge employe for 12 and a half years

HOTEL FIRE RAGES BEYOND CONTROL

By The Associated Press

COSHOCTON, O., Nov. 20—A stubborn fire raged out of control today in a three-story building occupied by the Park Hotel and business firms after 90 guests vacated the hostelry.

Firemen from Zanesville, West Lafayette and Newcomerstown fought alongside Coshocton firemen to keep the flames from spreading to adjoining buildings on Main street.

Four hours after the fire broke out it had run through the hotel building and the loss was estimated unofficially at $250,000. In the same building are the spot drug store, the Karen Hall Dress Shop, a coffee shop and the John Brown Billiard Parlor.

A Montgomery Ward store adjoins the building on one side and the Mutual Furniture Company on the other side.

Night Clerk Nathan Lazarus discovered the fire in the basement of the drug store about 6:40 a. m. With Paul Buck, the hotel manager, he went to all the occupied rooms and saw that the guests got out safely. The evacuation was completed within 15 minutes.

ESCAPEES ABDUCT 2 NEAR MANSFIELD

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 20—Four fugitives from the state prison camp at Grafton, accompanied by a 17-year-old girl, early today abducted two men near Mansfield, stole their automobile and left them tied in a field near Columbus.

The victims, William Bell, 21, of Mansfield, and Merle Leddy, 23, of Bellville, were forced to exchange their clothing for the red-striped prison garb.

The Ohio highway patrol said the fugitives were Robert Miller, 22, of Cleveland, James Lee Vendor, Donald William Burson and Leland R. Earlbaugh.

Leddy said the four and their girl friend had wrecked a stolen automobile near Mansfield and that some of them, including the girl, appeared to have injuries.

Leddy and Bell stopped for a girl hitch-hiker in a road at a night club near Mansfield, they said. Then the fugitives approached them with a shotgun and took over the automobile.

Sugar Price To Rise Half-Cent, OPA Says

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20—OPA increased the price of raw sugar today and notified housewives and other buyers it soon would boost the retail price of the refined product by about a half cent a pound.

The agency estimated the increase will add about $50,000,000 to consumers' annual food bills.

The retail price boost will come when grocers get sugar refined from the higher-cost raw sugar.

By The Associated Press

NEW LONDON, Conn., Nov. 20—Mrs. Joseph Fine, 39, wife of a Portuguese-Negro construction worker at the U. S. navy submarine base here was back at her household tasks today six days after giving birth for the 21st time.

She said she was as "proud and happy" over the arrival of the newest girl in the family, Carol, as she was over the birth of her first child, 23-year-old Manuel, now a sailor stationed at Norfolk, Va.

Seventeen of her children are living.

TAX RATES UP IN 12 DISTRICTS, DOWN IN 25

12 in County Unchanged; New Schedule of Budget Board Approved.

Tax rates for 1946 in 12 Marion county political subdivisions were raised, 25 were lowered and 15 remained unchanged, according to an announcement today from the Marion county budget commission as it completed its new tax schedule on real estate and tangible personal property.

Largest boost in the tax rate was made in Marion city, with an increase of from $16 for each one thousand dollars of property valuation to $23 for each one thousand dollars. The city tax increase was brought about by passage of the two-mill school levy for increasing teachers' salaries, and additions to retire bonds, including the school bond issue and the airport and sewer bond issues.

Reasons for Others

All of the other increases in the political subdivisions were due, the commission said, to levies and bond issues passed by voters.

Of the 25 subdivisions in which the tax rates were lowered, all except one resulted because of retirement of bonds. In the Caledonia school district a three-mill operating levy for the school expired and was not placed on the ballot in the general election.

Marion county's tax rate was reduced from 2.50 mills to 2 mills by the budget commission. Revenue from the one-half mill reduction will be divided between the city, the schools and the townships.

Start in December

The new tax rates will start with the December, 1946, taxing year. Approval of the new rates was received Monday from the state department of taxation.

Members of the budget commission includes James E. Reed, Marion county prosecutor; Marion Hinklin, county treasurer and Harry V. Mounts, county auditor.

Listed below are the political subdivisions and their new tax rates, followed by the amount of increase or decrease compared to the 1945 rates. Where no increase or decrease is shown, the amount remains the same as last year.

Big Island township: New Bloomington school district, $13.04, decrease 30 cents; Montgomery school district, $12; Marion township school district, $7.90, increase 58 cents; Green Camp school district, $12; decrease 66 cents; Morral school district, $12.98.

Bowling Green township: LaRue school district, $13.12, increase $1.20; New Bloomington school district, $13.14, decrease 30 cents; Green Camp school district, $12.10, decrease 66 cents.

Claridon township: Claridon school district, $13.50, decrease 14 cents; Caledonia school district, $9, decrease $2.92; Caledonia corporation, $12, decrease $3.

Grand township: Marseilles school district, $15.10, increase $2.84; Montgomery school district, $12; LaRue school district $13.02, increase $1.20; Morral school district $12.98.

Byhalia Schools Ordered Closed

By The Associated Press

MARYSVILLE, O., Nov. 20 — Schools at Byhalia, 15 miles to the north, were closed today with the approval of Dr. D. R. Laughbaum, Union county health director, pending further investigation of an infantile paralysis scare.

Jean Jolliff, 13, has been in Lima Memorial hospital for the last three weeks for treatment of polio, and two other Byhalia children became ill over last weekend.

They are an 8-year-old boy and a 14-year-old girl now in Children's hospital, Columbus, awaiting positive diagnosis.

The closure order holds good until next Monday, and included cancellation of Byhalia basketball games Friday and next Tuesday night. A grange program next Saturday also has been postponed.

Lausche Steps Into Steubenville Case

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 20—Gov. Lausche, disclosing that he had launched a personal investigation of vice conditions in Steubenville, said today he had conferred for an hour with Prosecutor Casmir J. Borkowski of Jefferson county (Steubenville).

The conference was held last night in the governor's office. Details were not disclosed.

Lausche, to whom a delegation of Steubenville ministers and civic leaders appealed for help last week, said he would make further inquiries.

When his preliminary investigation is completed, he reported, he probably will go to Steubenville and confer with Jefferson county's two common pleas judges.

6 DIE, 90 HURT IN EXPLOSION

Blast Caused by Escaping Gas Wrecks South Carolina Laundry.

By The Associated Press

GREENVILLE, S. C., Nov. 20—Six persons were known dead and about 90 injured today as the result of last night's earth-shaking gas explosion which shattered the Ideal laundry plant and damaged scores of buildings in the northeast section of Greenville.

State guardsmen patrolled the damaged area, assisting city police in preventing looting. Some residences, abandoned by their occupants after they were shaken by the blast, were reported robbed last night.

The dead were: J. Carl Trammell, 41, plant superintendent; J. Wylie Mims, 48, manager of a bottling plant who was visiting at the laundry; Walter Lee Harbin, 65, fireman for the plant, and three Negro women employes, Jerline Simpson, Mamie Earle and Mary Brown.

Greenville's two major hospitals reported they had 30 patients. Sixty others were given first aid treatment.

The explosion sent a pillar of fire and smoke more than a mile high, visible in nearby towns. The concussion was so great that it was felt 25 to 30 miles away.

Army Begins Mailing Terminal Leave Bonds

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20—After weeks of delay the army has started mailing out millions of terminal leave bonds to former GIs.

By Christmas, war department officials said today, it is expected that the bulk of a current backlog of some 4,000,000 claims will have been paid. Most payments are in five-year treasury bonds but cash is used for odd sums.

VA SUSPENDS 150,000 FROM GI PAYMENTS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20—The veterans administration reported today it had suspended subsistence payments to approximately 150,000 ex-GIs for failure to report earnings in school or job training.

The payments, made under the GI bill of rights, amount to $65 monthly for unmarried veterans in school or on job training and to $90 monthly for married men. More than 1,200,000 veterans draw the allotments.

Tuition payments, made directly to schools, are not affected.

Under legislation passed last summer, veterans' payments and earnings are limited to a total of $175 monthly for those without dependents and to $200 monthly for those with dependents. In the event those figures are exceeded, the subsistence allowances must be reduced accordingly.

The veterans administration warned on Nov. 1 that the subsistence allowances would be halted unless reports of earnings were received Nov. 5. Suspensions are to remain in effect until the information has been received.

VA said payments have been discontinued to 149,046 recipients and that several branch offices have not yet reported the number of delinquents in their areas. The percentage affected in various districts ranged from four to 16 per cent of the total enrolled in education and job training programs.

Gas Shortage Hearing Ends

Investigation of Winter Supply Concludes; Report Due Soon.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20—A federal power commission hearing on emergency regulations to avert an acute natural gas shortage in eight states ended early today.

Examiner Edward Marsh, closing the week-long hearing at 12:10 a. m. said the commission might issue by Dec. 1 an order intended to assure a maximum supply during the winter. He allowed attorneys in the case until Nov. 25 to file supplemental statements.

The unusual case arose from objections to proposals of the Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Company to reduce or interrupt some services if necessary during peak consumption in cold weather.

The protests came from wholesale companies in Texas, Oklahoma, Michigan, Ohio, Kansas, Missouri, Indiana and Illinois which buy fuel from Panhandle for resale."

Attorneys for Pandandle contended that sharply increased use of gas by householders and others since prewar days made shortages inevitable.

"We face," said O. W. Morton, one of the attorneys, "what could be a catastrophe."

Without service curtailments, he added, a dozen towns, including a "very large" one, might be without service in the event of extreme weather or equipment failure. He did not name the towns.

The pipline company has applied for authority to increase its capacity of approximately 400,000,000 cubic feet a day by 90,000,000 cubic feet. This could not be done, however, in time to help the situation this winter.

Panhandle spokesmen told a reporter that proposed cuts in service would affect chiefly certain industrial customers whose contracts do not call for constant year-round supplies. This class of consumers could be curtailed up to 90 per cent under a plan of commission engineers.

Domestic hospital, school and other consumers would be curtailed around 10 per cent only as a last resort.

CHINESE RED SCORES CHIANG

Disunity Is Blamed on Him; Charges "American Reactionary" Assistance.

By JOHN RODERICK
Associated Press Writer

YENAN, Nov. 18—(Delayed)—Gen. Chu Teh, commander-in-chief of China's Communist armies, charged Chiang Kai-shek today with "the entire responsibility" for national disunity and civil strife and assailed "American reactionaries" for "lending him encouragement."

In an exclusive three-hour interview, the famous guerrilla strategist declared he was preparing the defense of this Chinese Communist capital for "an important government attack."

General Chu also made these assertions:

1. That the Communists are not yet prepared to hold a rival congress in defiance of the national assembly at Nanking (contrary to a dispatch circulated by the Communist news agency in Nanking).

2. That between January and June he had demobilized 500,000 Communist troops in keeping with a joint Communist-government army reorganization plan, but they now were in greater strength than ever.

CIO Action Assails U. S. Strike Tactics

Restraining Order Is Called "Clear Violation of Norris-LaGuardia Act."

By The Associated Press

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Jan. 20—The CIO convention today condemned a federal court order designed to head off a full-scale coal work stoppage as a "clear violation of the Norris-LaGuardia act.

The delegates approved unanimously an anti-labor injunctions resolution to which they added:

"We condemn the action taken by the federal government in obtaining a sweeping injunction against the United Mine Workers of America.

"This is a clear violation of the Norris-LaGuardia act.

"No anti-labor injunctions can dispose of the problems now confronting workers who see their earnings shrink before the fast rising cost of living.

"American democracy cannot tolerate any attempt to impose economic slavery through vicious anti-labor injunctions."

Lewis Not Mentioned

The name of John L. Lewis, mine workers' president who returned from the CIO to the AFL last winter, was not mentioned during the proceedings on the anti-labor injunctions resolution.

Van Bittner, chairman of the resolutions committee and of the CIO's southern organizing drive, told the delegates before they voted that he had as much experience on labor injunctions as anyone in the room.

"Insofar as the mine workers are concerned, we are not going into the merits of the controversy in any way, except as it involves use of the injunction to settle labor disputes," Bittner said, adding:

"We are against labor injunctions any where at any time."

Big 3 Plan Wage Drive

While the convention itself gave its attention to resolutions, chiefs of the "Big Three" among CIO unions—steel, auto and electrical workers—were working together on a pattern of wage demands.

In a drive to put industry on the defensive the CIO predicted manufacturers would have a $7,700,000,000 fund available for pay raises in 1947.

Despite rumors, CIO spokesmen said flatly no figure had been decided upon as a talking point for higher wage negotiations.

More and more the CIO convention was emerging as a vehicle to prepare the minds of the CIO's 6,000,000 members—and the public—for a possible deadlock with industry such as occurred last winter when each of the "Big Three" called a strike.

CIO leaders handed out the November issue of their "economic Outlook" to the convention delegates. The publication said industry's "insatiable appetite for profits" had served to change the shares of national income received by capital and labor.

Rumors Fly Through City

With the convention itself plodding through a mass of resolutions—which no one objected but on which many muted—there came last night a terrific gush of speculation and rumors in the

MINE LEADER SILENT WHILE TIME EXPIRES

Labor Lawyers Huddle Over Strategy Regarding Restraining Order.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20—John L. Lewis' lawyers went into an eleventh hour huddle today as the midnight deadline approached in his showdown fight with the government.

The United Mine Workers chief must decide before today ends whether he will withdraw his contract termination notice that always means a shutdown in the soft coal mines.

Lewis, who may be courting legal penalties if he fails to do so, left his suburban home early but did not go to his office atop the union's building.

Neither did he return to the swank Carlton hotel suite around the corner which he engaged for the duration of the current crisis.

Yesterday Lewis spent most of the day at the Carlton, reading newspapers and saying nothing.

At issue as the midnight deadline approached were varying interpretations of the duration of the mine workers' contract with the government.

Contract Ends Tonight

Lewis served notice last week that he was ending the contract at midnight tonight after Secretary of Interior Krug, federal boss of the government-seized mines, took the position that new contract demands should be pursued with the private owners of the mines, not the government.

Krug insisted the current contract could not be re-opened for the negotiations. At the government's request a federal court forbade Lewis to keep the cancellation notice in effect.

As the crisis headed up with thousands of miners laying down their tools in nearly all parts of the coal fields, Krug kept to his office. He stayed in touch with the situation in the fields, however, and aides said his door was open to Lewis at any time.

Truman Holds Self Ready

President Truman, vacationing at Key West, Fla., also held himself ready for any quick decisions in the struggle.

Lewis' legal staff, headed by Welly K. Hopkins and William E. Leahy, conferred privately on the course of action to be taken in meeting the temporary injunction obtained by the justice department Monday in an effort to head off the threatened shutdown.

Approximately 100,000 miners—about one-fourth of the nation's coal producers—already had halted work.

In the crisis:

1. The army announced troops would be ready if needed to maintain order.

2. The government readied a call to governors of all states east of the Mississippi for "brownouts" and rationing of electricity and manufactured gas—a move affecting millions. Iowa, Wisconsin, Missouri and Minnesota also may be included.

3. Republican and Democratic lawmakers joined in a rising chorus of demands for labor-management legislation when the new congress meets Jan. 3. There were some scattered demands from lawmakers for an immediate special session.

Void at Midnight

Under Lewis' own formula, the present government-union contract which went into effect when the administration seized the pits last May becomes "void" at one minute past midnight tonight. Presumably, Lewis has until that hour to withdraw his cancellation of the pact—or risk punishment for contempt of court.

He was ordered to withdraw it in an order issued by Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough on Monday.

Labor attorneys said that unless the United Mine Workers' boss elects simply to ignore the courts they see only two apparent alternatives for him:

1. Go into court today and ask Judge Goldsborough to vacate the order on the ground that it violates the Norris-LaGuardia anti-injunction act, or that it requires Lewis to do something rather than restraining him from doing something. This is the usual procedure in seeking to block an injunction.

2. Rescind the notice of con-

County and City Institutions Check on Coal As Strike Grows

With reports of work stoppages in coal fields throughout the nation, city and county institutions, taking inventory of their coal supplies, reported today their present coal stocks were adequate, but some indicated that a prolonged coal strike would find them short of fuel by Jan. 1.

The coal supply for city schools appeared to be sufficient for the remainder of this year. E. E. Holt, Marion school superintendent, said city schools had enough coal on hand to run until the Christmas vacation, but added that after that time they would need a large amount to replenish their supplies.

D. T. Mills, county school superintendent, reported he had received no indication from rural schools concerning their coal supplies, although most rural schools buy their coal early in the fall, he said.

E. O. Uncapher, Marion safety-service director said the coal supply for City hospital would last only about 10 days or two weeks, but expressed confidence that through priorities coal could be obtained for the hospital. City fire stations have enough coal to last for approximately five weeks, Mr. Uncapher said.

An adequate coal supply, for the time being at least, also was reported for county institutions. County commissioners said their present supplies were sufficient for the county home, the children's home, the courthouse, the detention home and other county institutions.

Railroad officials here were unable to say whether or not the government's order for a 25 per cent cut in passenger service provided by coal-burning locomotives, effective Sunday, would affect local passenger schedules. They reported today they had received no notice that passenger service through Marion would be cut.

Boyle's Old Chum Now Movie's Martha Scott

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 20—"Hullo," said Martha Ellen, "Come in. It's been a long time."

It had been a long time. I hadn't seen Martha Ellen to talk to since we were cutting up frogs and studying sociology back in the old Kansas City Junior college in the pre-atomic age.

Hal Boyle

In those days Martha Ellen was just another pretty schoolgirl. She was slim—maybe even a mite on the skinny side, the plump girls might say—and had big expressive eyes and a soft sweet voice. But there were other girls more beautiful. I know because I was in love with three of them my freshman year.

But even then Martha Ellen Scott had one thing the others didn't have: a dream of greatness. And now it's come true. She's Martha Scott, screen and stage star, a veteran of seven movies and five Broadway plays. But also—she is still Martha Ellen.

She has her own four-story house on Sutton Place, one of those quietly austere east side streets where if you drop a twenty dollar bill you just kick it aside with your foot, because who wants to be seen on Sutton Place bending down to pick up a measly double sawbuck?

When we went in, Martha's husband, Mel Powell, a top jazz pianist turned composer, was in the back room rambling around on the keys, which he manipulates for seven hours daily.

"I don't get tired of it," Martha said. "Sometimes he does."

Upstairs her four-year-old son, Scott, was catching some early shut eye.

"He's my only real hobby," Martha smiled.

Reads Only Scripts

We sat down in a large second-floor living room lined with books which she says she never gets time to read. Her chief reading now is her script role in George Abbott's comedy "It Takes Two," opening soon on Broadway.

She just returned from London after finishing her first English film, "So Well Remembered," an RKO-Rank production co-starring John Mills. She liked England but thinks "It is a sad place. It's still war."

She picked up an ear infection there and three-and-a-half pounds—boosting her to a strapping 113.

"I want to keep the weight," she said, "but I hope I can leave the ear infection in Florida next week. I think the sun will help it. It's a fungi infection—how do you say it—'fungee' or 'funguy'. I just came from the doctor, and he put everything in it but his feet."

Martha Ellen still looks more like a sorority girl than a movie star. She never has affected the heavy off-stage manner adopted by many actresses.

She told me some interesting things about her life. How a woman high school teacher loaned her $1,000 from her life savings to study dramatic art at Michigan university. How another woman actor helped get her the big break of her career by recommending her to producer Jed Harris for the bride's role in "Our Town."

Fun Lies in Work

Martha Ellen says the fun in being an actress lies more in the work itself than in any so-called glamor of fame.

"It's still the most fascinating kind of mental life to me," she said. "You live inside another person in each role. I like that."

Knotted up like a squirrel on the sofa, she giggled as she recalled how it all started—the long road that led her to bright lights.

She had never thought of the theater until a boy she was secretly in love with in the Kansas City Westport Junior High school got a part in the class play. She tried out and won a part, too, just to be near her knicker pants hero.

When she came off the stage the opening night, he said:

"Oh, Martha Ellen, you were wonderful."

But Martha Ellen hardly heard him. The audience applause was doing strange things to her ears and setting a new tune to her heart.

"He never did know I had been in love with him," she said; "He's still in Kansas City."

UN FOOD POOL RECOMMENDED

Ohio Farm Bureau Head Calls Proposal Best U. S. Safeguard.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov 20 — While forecasting an early end to a record-breaking farm prosperity, Perry L. Green, Ohio Farm Bureau federation president, last night advocated "full and complete participation" in a proposed United Nations international commodity pool as a safeguard for the farmer's economic future.

Addressing the federation's 28th annual convention, Green predicted "within the next 18 months we will suffer some considerable collapse of agricultural price levels."

"It would seem likely," Green said, "that as soon as the normal supply of hogs, poultry, milk and eggs has been restored to the market, we are likely to suffer the same sort of a price decline that occurred in 1921 following the last war.

"How long such a decline of prices will continue, will depend upon our own domestic industrial production and upon how long it takes the European countries to get on their feet and come back even to their pre-war purchases, which were then far too scanty in volume."

Green declared that "farmers have raised as loud a voice as any group in their protests over controls of prices and subsidies" and asked:

"Will consistency in these protests rule in their acceptance of quotas when prices begin to decline?"

"There are two courses from which to choose," Green said. "One if the nationalistic course which will require quotas and acreage allotments of a more severe sort than we have heretofore had. This method would bypass almost completely our obligation to a starving Europe. The other course is full and complete participation in the international commodity pool which is proposed by the food and agriculture organization of the United Nations.

"The international pool," Green continued, "is designed for the purpose of overcoming the unsocial inconsistency which permits one part of the world to pay farmers for cutting down production while, at the same time, another part of the world may be paying farmers to increase production because the people are starving."

"If subsidies are necessary anywhere in agricultural production, it's a world responsibility, at least during these reconstruction years," he declared. "The food agriculture plan safeguards not only the interests of those who produce food, but also those who consume it."

Green asserted that "efforts are being made in Washington to scuttle this whole plan" because "speculators in farm products are fearful their profits in handling farm crops might not be as great."

Others in the county injured were Clifford Fry of Galion, who was struck by stray pellets while hunting near Carey; Robert Dean Scheffler, 16, of Galion, injured when he fell and his gun discharged into his left hand, and Clyde T. Safety Program Held By Galion Rotarians

Special to The Star

GALION, Nov. 20—A safety program was arranged by William Bradfield, safety director at the Galion Metallic Vault Co., for the meeting of the Galion Rotary club Monday night at the United Brethren church.

Two sound films on safety were shown. Mrs. Grace Thomas, secretary of the Galion Automobile club, commented on the safety patrol and the driving course in the schools, both of which are sponsored by the Galion Automobile club.

Norwood Smith of the Galion police force was first speaker. He gave a resume of accidents in Galion for 1945 and 1946. He said the total accidents investigated in 1945 were 147, and for this year, as of Nov. 1, there were 120. Chief causes of accidents, Smith said, were failure to yield the right-of-way, failure to observe stop signs, improper turns and starting out from parking places without precaution. Other causes included wet and icy pavements, defects in brakes and steering apparatus of cars.

Guests of the club besides the speakers were J. L. Patterson of the Cardington Rotary club, Cliff Hilliar of the Mansfield Rotary club, Y. R. Manda of Lahore, India, and Clark DeFluiter of Galion. The club will observe Ladies' Night on Dec. 9 when Dr. Horace Bingham will be the speaker.

New Traffic Light At Center, Davids St.

Two new traffic lights were installed Tuesday at the intersection of West Center and Davids streets and Kenton avenue.

Safety-Service Director E. O. Uncapher said the lights will provide separate periods for movement of traffic on the three thoroughfares. The one light formerly at the intersection allowed cars on Davids street and Kenton avenue to move at the same time, although the two streams of traffic crossed.

The new lights contain caution lights, which the light formerly at the intersection did not, Uncapher said. The old light was moved to the corner of Leader and West Center streets, providing an overhanging light in place of the sidearm light previously there.

Family Rescued From Drunk By Bow and Arrow

By The Associated Press

HIGHLAND PARK, Ill., Nov. 19—Attorney Paul C. Behanna and his wife came home from the movies and found a 200-pound soldier sitting at their kitchen table and waving a gun.

"Go upstairs and mind your own business," said the intruder, who was nibbling at some leftover carrots and sausage.

The Behannas complied, and found their two children and the maid were safe. But the telephone was downstairs.

Behanna's son, John, 13, got his toy bow and arrow and gave them to his father. Behanna shot an arrow 25 feet through a window of a neighbor's home. When there was no response he shot again and broke another pane.

This time the neighbor responded and called police. Local and military police from nearby Fort Sheridan rescued the marooned Behannas and took the soldier and his empty pistol into custody.

The soldier related he had been drinking and had only wanted something to eat. Behanna will pay for the broken windows.

Red Blood Cells Must Be Kept Up If You Want To Feel Alive

Thousands Now Regaining Old Time Pep, Vigor and Drive By Releasing Vibrant Energy To Every Muscle, Fibre, Cell

Overwork, undue worry, and lack of certain foods often reduces the red-blood strength—and starved, weak, puny blood just hasn't the power to keep up your energy and drive.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that 666 Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the 666 Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, 666 Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on 666 Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Bigger Than the Law?

THIS is what the Anti-strike Act of 1943, usually called the Smith-Connally Act, says about interfering with production under government seizure:

Sec. 6 (a) Whenever any plant, mine, or facility is in the possession of the United States, it shall be unlawful for any person (1) to coerce, instigate, conspire with, or encourage any person to interfere by lockout, strike, slowdown, or other interruption, with the operation of such plant, mine, or facility, or (2) to aid any such lockout, strike, slowdown, or other interruption interfering with the operation of such plant, mine, or facility by giving direction or guidance in the conduct of such interruption, or by providing funds for the conduct or direction thereof, or for the payment of strike, unemployment, or other benefits to those participating therein.

Coal mines are in the possession of the United States. The head of United Mine Workers has encouraged persons belonging to that union to interfere with operation of the mines. John L. Lewis wilfully has challenged the law. The question now is whether John L. Lewis is bigger than the law; i.e., the government of the United States. On every previous occasion when the same question was asked, the answer was that John L. Lewis was bigger than the law. It is being asked again. The public is waiting for their government to decide which is bigger this time—itself or the boss of the coal miners.

The penalty for wilful violation of the Anti-strike Act is a fine up to $5,000 or imprisonment up to one year, or both.

The Same Old Rose

THE quotation-mark "liberals" are now trying on a new name for size. They are calling themselves "progressives."

With the LaFollette Progressive party officially abandoned, someone was bound to pick up the title, which always has been a good one in politics.

Unfortunately, "liberal" was getting threadbare anyway, having been abused and neglected so grievously it hardly was recognizable.

But a rose under any other name is the same old rose. "Progressive" will conceal the same reactionary features as "liberal" was supposed to conceal.

Or rather it will conceal them from those who haven't yet learned that no matter what the Wallaces, Morgenthaus, Ickeses, Krolls and their political henchmen choose to call themselves at any given moment they are still the Wallaces, Morgenthaus, Ickeses and Krolls.

They are the leaders of movements and schools of thought in the United States which want to turn over the sovereignty of the whole people to a select group of people, self-operating—the American version of a totalitarian system.

They do not dare call themselves what they are, so in the great tradition of never telling a little lie when a big one is better, they call themselves what they aren't.

It Happens Here

BARRING Mississippi's Theodore Bilbo from the U. S. senate would be a far more important achievement for leadership in the 80th congress than reducing income taxes.

Bilbo has been a 365-day-a-year reminder since 1934 that the thing most Americans are opposed to happens here in spite of their opposition. As an individual, Bilbo is of small importance. But he has become tremendously important as a symbol of intolerance. While he retains the privilege of sitting as an equal with the representatives of other states in the upper house of congress, the United States must continue to apologize for its inability to place so heavy a moral penalty on racial and religious intolerance that no state would dare send a Bilbo to Washington.

It is more than coincidence that in Georgia a fascist movement is getting under way, more than coincidence that in Louisiana Huey Long established his political empire and began to dream of branching out. The poverty and prejudices of the South have created the circumstances favorable to Bilboism, one of the native American forms of terrorism. It must be dealt with whenever and wherever it appears. It is past time for dealing with it in the senate of the United States.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

CIO Purge of Commies Only Glosses Surface.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 — The headlines said: "CIO Rejects Communist Interference" at the opening of its Atlantic City convention - but it did and didn't. What happened was this.

Hardpressed President Phil Murray got the Communists in on a statement denouncing themselves. He induced three of his unionists whom he would call rightwingers to work on a policy statement, Reuther of the Auto Workers who is reputed a Socialist, Rieve of the Textile Workers and Murray of the Newspaper Guild. But he also caused to work with them three, whom he would call leftwingers. Gold of the Fur Workers, an acknowledged Communist, Flaxer of the questionable Public Workers and Quill of the doubtful Transport Workers.

The difference between a Communist and a Communist sympathizer is purely technical. As far as world foreign and domestic economic policy is concerned (and nothing else is,) a sympathizer is more dangerous than a Communist party member because he can wield more influence while claiming the right of immunity.

It was this kind of CIO committee which wrote a policy and secured its adoption by the executive board of fifty-one members, saying, in effect: "We resent and reject"—"we will not tolerate such interference," but not proposing to do anything about it.

To Avoid a Purge

This kind of political flagellation or self-denunciation was promoted to prevent something worse, for instance, a purge attempt by CIO of its Communist leaders. Advance word was privately passed around within the organization that "a sweeping clean-up of Communists" would follow the statement but it is clear the Commie sympathizers do not think so or they would not have joined in. Indeed no one thinks so, for the truth is simply this:

The CIO is so deeply entangled with the Communists it cannot get rid of them. It is afraid of a showdown. Its leaders would rather gloss over its predicament with such statements of policy as it produced to stop criticism—and wait. The Commie sympathizers have seized control of local unions. They have infiltered into secretarial and treasury positions in other unions, contrived economic and political policy and will even deny they are Commies if the party line calls for it, for unprincipled Communism calls for even violation of oaths on a witness stand. But next time they have an opportunity to sabotage American foreign policy or hinder domestic production, they will be in the right position to bring their influence to bear.

The problem of the CIO then is how to get rid of Communists in a democracy. Indeed the problem of the whole democratic world similarly inquires how to handle Communism in a free ballot permitting representation for all parties.

There is a way—the establishment of reciprocal rights. It could be done by law and pressure. Some authorities wish to extradite all members of the Communist party, and this could also be done under existing law in accordance with the J. Edgar Hoover report to the justice department.

Rid of Influence

Even the Democrats could thus rid themselves of the Communist party influence which is trying to establish a balance of power over them—but only that portion of the movement, such a law could not rid the country of the influence of the American Labor Party, which both unionist and liberal leaders have said is dominated by the secretly working Communists in New York City.

But if a law were passed, giving the advocates of Communism no more rights than a Democrat enjoys in Russia, the infiltration movement might be headed off. We do this in trade. Under the reciprocal trade agreements, we give trade concessions only to those foreign nations which give us concessions. Why not do this in politics? Why not give Communists and their sympathizers only such rights as they give us in Russia—meaning none?

This would be a truly Democratic and Christian approach to a solution—not punitive, not baiting. Instead of leaving democracy a weak catch-all in which even Commies and their sympathizers can participate for the sole purpose of destroying it, democracy could become as exclusive as Communism.

Members of the Communist party would thus be excluded entirely from participation in elections and would thus lose their influence. While their sympathizers could continue current agitations, a clause in the law should require them to remove themselves from suspicion, and the pressure of a foreign power in domestic unionism as well as politics would be removed.

CIO might clean itself under such a law. Indeed Russia might be induced to give the Democratic party the right to vote in Russian elections some day, abandoning its iron curtain isolationism, and then, of course, her Communists would have a reciprocal right to vote here. In case Russian unions acquired the right to vote against their government, they would be restored rights here. That would make it fair and even.

This is only a personal idea, to which anyone has the right to add—or subtract.

Presidential Powers

Truman's Situation After Jan. 3 Will Reenact Old Story.

By SHERRY BOWEN
Associated Press Writer

ANY factional disputes between Democratic President Truman and the Republican congress which opens Jan. 3 will be just another installment of a headache which started with the founding fathers and has been throbbing in America's governmental noodle ever since.

When Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) suggested that the President appoint a Republican secretary of state and then resign in his favor, White House reports indicated he wouldn't do any such thing.

But either way, Truman is right in the middle of a muddle over the presidency which has grown periodically and unpredictably in American affairs.

The constitutional convention in 1787 didn't decide what to do about the President until the last minute. The wording of the constitutional definition of presidential powers is credited to Gouverneur Morris, convention expert on phrasing, and apparently never was voted upon. Lawyers have been arguing ever since whether "The executive power . . . vested in a President," grants something not otherwise specified in the document.

Kingdom Was Feared

Before the convention James Madison said, "A national executive will also be necessary. I have scarcely ventured to form my own opinion yet either on the manner in which it ought to be constituted or the authorities with which it ought to be clothed." Neither had anyone else, apparently.

The convention rejected election of the President by Congress and later election by electors. Then it decided to let congress elect and finally changed its mind and approved the elector system.

The uncertainty was understandable. The new republic existed in a world full of kings. Alexander Hamilton found it necessary to defend the proposed President against opponents who pictured him "with a diadem sparkling on his brow and the imperial purple flowing in his train."

Parties Were Unforeseen

In general, most of the predictions and expectations of the founding fathers about the presidency were proved false later. The electors, given an important role in the Constitution, were insignificant almost from the start. And when Aaron Burr and Thomas Jefferson got an equal number of electoral votes, precipitating a battle in the house which has jurisdiction in such cases, the Twelfth Amendment was rushed through to provide separate votes for President and vice president.

In any case, the founders had no conception of a party system. Parties were in disrepute after many centuries during which sponsorship of opposition parties was considered treason in most countries.

Thus the nation as it has grown from less than four million inhabitants has been faced with an original uncertainty about the role of the President and has had to build a chief executive to suit its needs as it went along and at the same time adjust his relationships with the other branches of the government.

How Powers Have Grown

High spots of the development in the presidency include:

1. Jefferson's extreme deference to congress modified by the fact that he got what he wanted through party leadership.

2. The strong policies of Jackson which increased the power of the Presidents.

3. The war powers which President Lincoln was forced to assume.

4. The bitter fight between Andrew Johnson and congress.

5. The dynamic program of Theodore Roosevelt which again increased the power of the Presidents.

6. The war-backed developments of Wilson.

7. The depression and war programs of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Now comes Harry Truman facing a hostile congress in a post-war emergency.

Middle Eastern Powder Keg

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20—Without being very vocal on the subject, the state department is much disturbed by several recent developments, some public and some as yet undisclosed. In the first category are the French election and the emergence of a small but vocal Henry Wallace minority in the British Labor party. If possible, however, even greater concern is felt over recent events in Iran, where the old trouble is beginning again with renewed force. The depression arising from these causes in fact almost counter-balances the encouragement drawn from the mildly hopeful signs which are visible in Germany and at the conference table of the atomic energy commission.

The Iranian episode is singularly interesting and dramatic in itself. It is also another, rather startling proof of the sound rule that the Soviets will press forward anywhere and everywhere until they encounter resistance equal to the pressure they can exert. While they are recoiling before our resistance in western Europe, they have not yet met with sufficient resistance in the Middle East. Accordingly, the pressure there continues, as the following very curious set of facts indicates only too amply.

Some time ago, the Soviet ambassador at Teheran demanded on behalf of his government what amounted to a total air monopoly in northern Iran, including exclusive use of three air bases in this region. When the question came before the Iranian cabinet, it proved to be the spark that touched off the powder keg.

Appeasement Effort

The powder keg was the cabinet itself. In order to appease Moscow, the aged, wily but not overstrong Iranian premier, Ahmed Qavam, had included three members of the Soviet-sponsored Tudeh party as cabinet officers, and had selected as his vice premier the chief Soviet hireling in Iran, Prince Mozaffar Firouz. For months, Firouz had been known to report everything that happened in the cabinet, and everything that he could learn about the government, direct to the Soviet ambassador. Firouz's acceptance of the puppet's role was so complete that other foreign diplomats had hinted to Qavam that it placed Iran's independence in doubt.

When the cabinet took up the question of the Russian air base demands about three weeks ago, it was one of the Tudeh party cabinet ministers, curiously enough, who pointed out that the demands contravened the Chicago air agreement. Iran had signed the Chicago agreement guaranteeing freedom of the world air. The unfortunate Tudeh minister no doubt intended merely to indicate that this was a difficulty which had to be got over somehow. But when Firouz as usual reported the proceedings to the Soviet embassy, the ambassador flew into a fury, called the Tudeh minister, and gave him a brutal tongue-lashing.

Crisis Results

The incident became known, and precipitated the crisis. To have it publicly accepted that his ministers were in reality responsible to the representative of a foreign power was a bit more than the young Shah of Iran could stand. He in turn called in Premier Qavam and presented an ultimatum.

In substance, he gave Qavam the choice between getting rid of Firouz and his Tudeh colleagues, or an immediate appeal to the United Nations against Soviet intervention in Iranian affairs. Qavam chose to expel Firouz and the Tudeh men from the cabinet.

Again Firouz hurried to the Soviet embassy. This time it was Qavam himself whom the Soviet ambassador called in to receive a dressing-down. Qavam immediately made two concessions, appointing Firouz Iranian ambassador to the Soviet Union with the singular proviso that he could stay in Teheran to make trouble, and agreeing to hold an Iranian election in December.

The election is almost certain to produce a storm of major proportions. The Tudeh party is now openly opposed to Qavam, and a violent struggle has already begun to see who will count the ballots. Qavam has appealed to the Soviets to cease their interventions, and they have answered by flooding their thoroughly controlled area in Azerbaijan with great numbers of newly trained Caucasian Russians who have entered the army and police. The vastly enlarged Azerbaijanian army is actively preparing for civil war, and defenses are being prepared at Senjan, well beyond the border.

An Example

The nature of Azerbaijanian independence was again revealed not long ago, when the government troops raided one of the Azerbaijanian outposts. The 20 soldiers captured and brought back to Teheran included four Soviet officers, complete with Russian uniforms and radio. Despite the flagrant violation of Iranian sovereignty and proof of the breaking of all previous promises, the four Russians were released at the urgent request of the Soviet Embassy.

Qavam is putting up a bold front, stating that he hopes to keep the combined number of Tudeh and Azerbaijanian deputies within manageable limits in the new parliament. But no one else has much hope that this can be achieved. On the contrary, it is now generally agreed that there are only three alternatives left for Iran. Either the western powers, by indicating they will stand no more pressure in the Mid-East, must cause the Soviets to recoil as they have in Europe. Or there will be a civil war, with all the betting on the side of the Tudeh and Azerbaijanian faction. Or Iran will relapse peacefully into the condition of a full-dress Soviet puppet state.

"As the second year of peace begins, the national economy is in a position of great promise, and of great danger."—John R. Steelman, director of Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion.

P.S.—I also know a man who voted for a change because of the radio commercials.

New York barbers have won a strike. They now get a shorter day and a raise of $6 a week. What it amounts to, is a directive to the boss: "Just a little bit off the top, and no bay rum."

Plans are announced for a super-Madison Square Garden in Columbus Circle. We understand that part of the project will call for redesigning the statue of Christopher Columbus to present him as "the one from Genoa, wearing purple tights."

BACK HOMESTUFF

Jim McGovern, one of the state's best known editors, celebrated what the Register called his 77th birthday last week, but it must have been a typographical error of about 20 years... We didn't know until recently that Billy Rose, Donald Oenslager and Harold Rome were in a sense connecticutters ...Billy recently told of watering the elephants circus day when he lived in New Haven ...Donald Oenslager, top scenic designer, is a member of the faculty at Yale... Mr. Rome lived in the old hometown for some years when he was studying law....His idea was to be a great lawyer. He played with Eddie Wittstein's orchestra while in college and later found the law such tough sledding that he used to run up from New York to New Haven to play the piano for Miss Darling's dance classes at the Lyon Club.

A Dollar Down

By TRUMAN TWILL

We see by the papers that installment buying is coming back. This will restore the original incentive plan in the United States.

The original incentive plan in this country was a dollar down and a lot more to go. Come high water or the other thing, the payments had to be kept up, or the man from the finance company would call.

This was the way Americans were coaxed into making the switch from horses and buggies to automobiles, the way we were persuaded to take mother away from hours of toil at the washboard, and the thing that equipped the American home with mechanical refrigerators, vacuum cleaners and self-stoking stoves.

It brought in the golden era for overstuffed furniture and cabinet radios big enough on top to display portraits of all the photogenic relatives. It enabled us to accumulate enough extra clothing to send thousands of tons of castoffs abroad when the call for succor was issued. A dollar down and a lot to go—that was our secret.

Installment buying cooled off hot money and made family finance a cold, methodical proposition of paying the rent, the grocery bill and the insurance premiums with enough left over to keep up with the Joneses. Every day of lost pay, every dollar that was wasted meant a shortage in the funds set aside to keep the wolf at the door from being joined by the little man with the fatal papers.

Instead of a hand-to-mouth existence, families had to look ahead to the 10th of the next month. The gadget in hand was worth more than the gadget in the bush because it had seven payments on it already. Possession was nine points of the law and repossession was the thing to be avoided.

It may seem a bit early to revive the original incentive plan—with an over-all shortage of stuff to buy—but there's always the down payment to scrape together. Scraping it together used to be the best part of the trick in the old days. Once that was done, the rest was a shoo-in, a matter of deciding what couldn't be spent because it had to be put away in the sugar bowl to meet payments coming due on the sweeper, the davenport, the car, the washing machine, the refrigerator and radio.

It was the slickest way to cool off hot money ever invented. In those days buying wasn't what a man had in his pants pocket but what he would have over the next 12 months while he whittled down the balance due on the American way of life. What he had in his pants pocket was only the down payment.

The old incentive to buy the world's highest standard of living at so much a month, instead of wasting money on a futile attempt to keep up the world's fastest rate of spending at so much a day is back with us. Hot money will be put away in the sugar bowl to cool, where it belongs.

Wolcott is whipping into shape plans for a quick investigation of the housing program for veterans, which he has described as "outrageously bad."

Whether rent controls are extended beyond next June 30, he said, depends largely on whether the housing shortage is relieved by new construction.

"We must be realistic about rent controls," he said. "There is an awful housing shortage. If we lifted rent controls completely a small minority of unscrupulous landlords no doubt would gouge their tenants and there would be evictions. We saw some that happen last summer when there was no rent control for a while."

The positions of the Republican lawmaker and the OPA were disclosed against a background of increasing clamor from property owners for a general rise in ceilings or outright decontrol of rents.

A group of Detroit, Mich. landladies picketed the White House and OPA headquarters, carrying banners calling for an end to rent control and saying "America wants freedom, not Communism."

In Texas, there were reports of a landlords' strike.

FLOW OF SURPLUS FARM GOODS PUSHED

WAA Acts To Put Material in Hands of Farmers.

An intensified program by the war assets administration to increase the flow of surplus agricultural supplies to farmers throughout the nation is now under way, George J. Walsh, representative from the WWA's Cleveland regional headquarters told Frank E. Montgomery, county AAA chairman, yesterday, in a meeting with county AAA officials.

Walsh was here to acquaint members of the AAA with the war assets administration's part in the program and to determine from them the special needs of farmers in Marion county.

As a part of the program, Walsh is making arrangements whereby local AAA committeemen will cooperate in informing farmers, dealers and Farm Bureau cooperatives in this area how they can obtain surplus agricultural supplies through the war assets administration.

He stressed the fact that while agricultural groups have a certain priority many commodities they wish to buy are in short supply and although the WAA will do everything possible to get these items into their hands, it cannot assure them that it will be able to fill every order.

Among the items which farmers may buy are farm machinery, trucks, hardware, plumbing and general products, metal working equipment and real property including farm and grazing lands.

More than $50,000,000 is invested in the U. S. cranberry industry.

MRS. EMMA BERGER CLAIMED BY DEATH

Founder and Former Teacher of Bible Class Dies.

Mrs. Emma Louise Berger, 85, widow of Rev. Henry C. Berger, founder and former teacher of the Emma Berger Bible class of Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Sunday school, died at 9 a. m. today at the Waddell Ladies home at 1241 East Center street where she had made her home for nearly 10 years. She had been ill for six months.

As the wife and daughter of ministers she was active in church work throughout her life. Her husband was a minister in the Evangelical conference for many years and was serving as an elder in the conference when the family made their home in Marion a number of years ago. It was during their residence here that Mrs. Berger organized the class which bears her name and served as teacher for a number of years. She also served as conference president of the Woman's Missionary society. She also was a member of Mary Harris Armor, W. C. T. U.

As pastor of the Evangelical circuit here Rev Berger laid the groundwork for congregations that now compose Calvary, Greenwood and Oakland churches of that denomination here.

Born at Lindsay, Sandusky county, Jan. 1, 1861, her parents were Rev. Daniel Strawman whose birthplace was near Caledonia, and Sarah Houser Strawman who was born near Loudonville. Her marriage to Rev. Berger took place March 1, 1880 at Lindsay. His death occurred March 2, 1918. Mrs. Berger came to Marion from Fremont and had resided at the Waddell Home since Jan. 5, 1937. One son, D. Paul Berger of Chicago, survives. A sister, Mrs. John Johns of Haven Hubbard Home for the Aged at New Castle, Pa.

Funeral services will be conducted at 10 a. m. Friday at Calvary Evangelical church and burial will be made in the Lindsay cemetery near Fremont. Friends may call at the Schaffner-Denzer funeral home on East Center street after 7:30 p. m. Thursday.

Truman Sees U. S. Challenge

Juvenile Delinquency Termed Test of American Institutions.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20—President Truman told the national juvenile delinquency conference today that the continuing increase in crimes by young people "presents a challenge to all of us."

Citing an FBI report showing juvenile crime increased sharply during the first nine months of this year, compared with 1945, Mr. Truman said:

"It also reveals in bold relief that the roots of the juvenile delinquency problem still lie in the homes, the schools, the neighborhoods and churches of our nation, and are tied to our everyday lives."

The President is in Florida on a vacation. His statement was read to the opening session of the three-day conference by Associate Justice Harold H. Burton, temporary chairman.

Some 1,000 representatives of federal, state, community and private organizations are attending the conference which was called by Attorney General Tom Clark to check the spread of teenage crime.

"The contribution which this nationwide conference can make toward alleviating this blight upon our country is far reaching," Mr. Truman said and added:

"Through your reports, your studies and your discussions, a documented program of action may be blueprinted for the citizens of the United States. It is my belief that your efforts will result in a sincere campaign to keep our children and young people from swerving toward the paths of crime.

"I am also convinced that if the results of this conference are publicized and carried forward in an all-inclusive manner, a concerted program of community action will materialize.

"You may rest assured that the national conference for the prevention and control of juvenile delinquency will have my complete support in its deliberations and resultant program of nationwide cooperation."

TRUMAN TAKES SPIN AFTER WORK PERIOD

By The Associated Press

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 20—President Truman worked for two hours on his correspondence today before taking the wheel of his own automobile for a drive about this naval submarine base.

Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters there have been no communications from Washington on the coal crisis.

Mr Truman held himself in readiness for critical decisions as the deadline neared for his showdown fight with John L. Lewis.

He was up at 6 a. m., Ross said, reading and dictating mail until 8. He then went for a brief swim at the officers' pool before having breakfast at 9 a. m. He started his drive in the open car shortly after 10 a. m.

Mr Truman is planning to go fishing Friday, taking Reconversion Director John R. Steelman, Fleet Admiral William D Leahy, his chief of staff, Judge John Caskie Collet, stabilization adviser and Major General Harry H Vaughan, who were due in from Washington at 12:30 p. m.

Ross said Mr. Truman was "very pleased" by what he was told was "vigorous" public support of his orders to prevent a walkout in the soft coal mines by any means available to the government.

Warns Against Serious Real Estate Inflation

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON Nov 20—John H Fahey, commissioner of the federal home loan bank, said today the United States was "in the midst of the most serious inflation of real estate prices in our history."

In a message to the United States Savings and Loan league, meeting in Milwaukee, he said:

"Many thousands of veterans and others are being forced to buy homes they cannot afford and will be unable to pay for. This is a repetition of the conditions which caused the unprecedented mortgage panic of the 'thirties' with its attendant obliteration of thousands of lending institutions and the loss of billions of dollars to millions of people of small means."

Navy Investigates Carrier Explosion

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20—Navy experts searched the aircraft carrier Antietam today for something to explain the explosion that shook the 27,000-ton Essex class vessel yesterday, killing one man and injuring 30.

Workmen expressed belief the shock, so violent that men two decks above the explosion were injured, was caused by a spark from a chisel on a chipping gun which set off fumes from an alcohol storage tank.

Work Here Part of Nationwide Expansion Program by Kresge

Remodeling of Kresge facilities here is part of an expansion program being undertaken by the company throughout the country.

New Kresge stores are now being built in Sioux City, Ia., Lexington, Ky. and Pontiac, Mich. Others are planned for Hazelton, Pa., Meriden, Conn., Detroit, Mich., Erie, Pa., Chicago, Ill., and Arlington, Va.

Kresge stores now total 638 in the United States and 61 in Canada. They employ between 31,000 and 35,000 persons. This network of retail merchandising grew from a single store owned by S. S. Kresge, a former Pennsylvania farm boy, in Detroit in 1899.

Started as Salesman

Before opening the Detroit store Kresge had worked as a traveling salesman and, with a capital of $8,000, opened a store in Jamestown, N. Y., with a J. G. McCrory. The store prospered and branches were started in other cities. In 1899 Kresge bought out McCrory's interest in the Detroit store and went into business by himself.

The idea of a store in which nothing above 10 cents was sold caught the public's fancy and Kresge's enterprise prospered. By 1917 he had 170 stores.

During the inflation period before the first World War the 10 cents limit was abandoned and a 25 cents limit substituted. Later, the company opened stores which sold merchandise up to a dollar, usually adjacent to the five and tens. These stores tapped a retail field not covered by the five and ten and neglected by the department store.

Changes Factory Methods

It was now possible for lower income groups to purchase goods hitherto considered the prerogative of the well-to-do, because of higher prices and limited choice. Hundreds of manufacturers revolutionized their production methods to bring their wares within this price range. Products which this new type of mass, lower-income retail selling made available included aluminum and plated kitchenware, silken hose, lingerie, toilet articles, millinery, jewelry, men's haberdashery, shaving supplies, tools and other hardware, toys, children's togs and candies.

A more recent development was the establishment of combination stores, which sell merchandise formerly carried by ten cent and dollar stores. The new Marion store is an example of this new type of super store which is being established throughout the country.

LEWIS

tract termination — the notice which in the past has always served as a tacit but automatic strike call.

Miner Voices Reaction

In the face of Lewis' silence, typical miner reaction was voiced by Sam Caddy, president of UMW District 30 in the Big Sandy field in Kentucky, where an estimated 13,000 out of 15,000 workers were idle.

"They know the move is on," he said.

In Pittsburgh, John Castor, a union official, said the miners had received "all the instruction they needed" and could be expected to stage a mass walkout today.

Reports from the coal fields told of mounting tension among the miners.

Truman Follows Developments

President Truman, vacationing at Key West, Fla., was following developments and was also keenly alert to editorial and public reaction. Secretary Charles G. Ross said Mr. Truman was "very pleased" over what he termed the "vigorous" public support of his decision to fight Lewis to a finish.

But some high officials here were concerned that the administration might be in for a long and tempestuous struggle.

One official said privately the feeling in the coal industry was that it might take six months to a year "to break Lewis," as he put it, and bring the miners back to work.

This official said it was possible that if Lewis were thrown into jail it might touch off a nationwide general strike, with the American Federation of Labor's 7,150,000 members and the Congress of Industrial Organization's 6,000,000 rallying to his support.

He said it was barely possible, too, that the government might "freeze" Lewis' strike chest, estimated at $13,500,000. But, he said, he knew of no immediate move in that direction.

100,000 Miners Already Idle in U. S. Coal Fields

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 20—The number of idle in the soft coal fields swelled today to nearly 100,000—representing about one-fourth of the nation's bituminous coal miners.

With John L. Lewis' midnight contract "termination" deadline only a few hours away, more thousands of workers stayed at home in the heavy producing Pennsylvania coal centers where the current work stoppage got under way Monday and spread gradually to other states.

Reports from the national field estimated the idle at 98,700. The figure has grown from 38,000 on Monday and 89,000 Tuesday.

8,000 OHIOANS OUT

By The Associated Press

BELLAIRE, O., Nov. 20—With more than 8,000 Ohio coal miners already off their jobs, mine managers expected increased absenteeism today in the final hours before a midnight deadline United Mine Workers president John L. Lewis fixed for termination of the union's contract with the government.

C. AND O. TO REPLACE ALL PASSENGER CARS

Special to The Star

CLEVELAND, Nov. 20—Orders for the replacement of every passenger car on the Chesapeake and Ohio Lines—sleepers, parlors and coaches—were placed at a meeting today of the company's directors, it was announced by Robert R. Young, chairman of the board. This complete modernization, the most ambitious ever undertaken in the railroad industry, will involve an expenditure of about 26 million dollars.

The contract for these orders, which supplements previous commitments for new equipment, was awarded to the Pullman Standard Car Manufacturing Co. on a competitive basis. The C. and O.'s last order for its two new streamliner trains was placed with the Edward G. Budd Manufacturing Co.

hotel corridors and bars. The speculation was about:

1. Wage demands . . A story went around that the "Big Three" unions would seek about 20 cents an hour. Another guess today, calculated by reporters on the basis of CIO figures on the cost-of-living rise and the decline of weekly factory earnings, was that the demand would be 26 or 27 per cent. This figure had excellent statistical ground—the only trouble was that the final decision may not be based on statistics only.

2. General Eisenhower. He was to address the convention today. Because some CIO delegates look favorably on him, and have said so in conversations, the notion grew that some sections of labor might ask him to run for president in 1948 as Democratic candidate. Responsible CIO leaders said this was "just idle talk."

3. John L. Lewis. Delegates here asked each other over and over what Lewis and the government would do in the tense coal dispute. They didn't claim to know.

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Nov. 20—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov announced today that Russia was ready to accept a United States proposal that all members of the United Nations submit complete figures on all troops both at home and abroad.

He declared that Russia and the United States were in complete accord and added that Russia was ready to draft agreements to carry out the proposal which originally was made in the Un assembly by Warren R. Austin, head of the U. S. delegation.

Molotov spoke before the assembly's political committee, which had met to take up a Soviet proposal that all UN members report on troops and bases they maintain on non-enemy territory.

Liner America Sets U. S. Trans-Atlantic Record

By The Associated Press

COBH, Eire, Nov. 20—The United States liner America, the biggest commercial ship under the U. S. flag, today held the record among American vessels for the eastward crossing of the Atlantic.

The 26,454-ton passenger vessel on her war-delayed maiden voyage to Europe, was only four days, 22 hours, 22 minutes out of New York when she dropped anchor in Cobh-Cork harbor at 11:15 last night (6:15 p. m. EST).

Her performance erased the record of five days, five hours between Ambrose Light, New York, and Daun's Light-ship, off Cobh, set before the war by the Manhattan, also a United States Lines ship.

met him a year ago, then launched into his criticism of Americans.

"It is regrettable," he said, "that reactionaries like Henry Luce (Time-Life publisher) and (Senator) Vandenberg (R-Mich), who don't care one iota for what other peoples suffer or think, should have so much to do with shaping American foreign policy.

"Unless these selfish little men are repudiated by an aroused American public opinion, democracy can never have a chance in China."

Though he was critical of American policy in China, Chu applauded reports that General Marshall, special U. S. envoy, and John Carter Vincent, director of the state department's office of far eastern affairs opposed granting a $500,000,000 loan to China while the country continued under "Chiang Kai-shek's dictatorship."

"The recent Republican victory doesn't increase the possibility of a more generous policy toward China," Chu said.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Spastic Colitis

The bowel is a muscular tube and these muscles, like those in other parts of the body, have a normal and regular pattern of contraction and relaxation. In some nervous individuals, however, the bowel muscles are overly contracted and remain in a constant state of tension, causing the bowel to become contracted in some portions.

When this state of affairs continues over long periods of time, we have a condition known as spastic colitis. Most individuals with this disorder will begin to show more or less severe symptoms before the age of forty. Usually they complain chiefly of abdominal pain and constipation, though in some instances there may also be passage of mucus from the bowel. The pain in the abdomen tends to be worse during times of strain or tension, and in women during the time of the regular monthly period. The pain seldom bothers the patient at night. It is made worse by cold and relieved by warmth. The pain for the most part is in the lower part of the abdomen.

Most of the patients with spastic colitis are constipated and many have an excess of gas in the bowel. This gas causes rumbling noises and welling or distension of the abdomen. Sometimes there is a burning pain along the entire course of the large bowel. Even in those who are constipated there may be alternating attacks of diarrhea. In addition to these symptoms affecting the abdomen there may also be nervousness, depression and a general exhaustion, nausea, paleness, and rapid and noticeable beating of the heart.

While the exact cause of spastic colitis is not known definitely, it is generally believed to be due to nervous disturbances. The patients are likely to be of a nervous temperament. However, in many cases the condition is aggravated by the use of laxatives.

In treating this disorder, reassurance of the patient is one of the most important steps. He must be made to realize that his disorder is not a serious one. Then he must be taught to adjust his life so as to avoid strain insofar as is possible. He should be encouraged to be less concerned about his bowel.

Most of the patients with spastic colitis do best on a so-called "bland" diet, that is, one which contains no bulky or irritating foods. Mineral oil may also be useful. Such drugs as belladonna may help to relieve the bowel spasms. But, of course, it should be employed only under the directions of a physician.

I have outlined a bland diet and shall be glad to send this information to those desiring it, to aid in following the physician's advice. A stamped, self-addressed envelope should be enclosed. Names will not be used.

Cabbies Set for Player Benefit Tilt with Cincinnati Dakotas Tonight

Local Players To Share All Gate Receipts After Expenses

Tonight's Cabby engagement with the Cincinnati Dakotas will be the game of the year for the Marion semi-pro football players. This game will be the only one from which the players receive the full amount of the gate receipts. The opposing team's expenses will have to be met and other incidental items paid but after this the 30 members of the team will receive the benefits. This game will start at 8 instead of the usual time of 8:30.

Their opponents in this contest will be the powerful Cincinnati Dakotas who have been doing some high flying in state semi-pro circles.

There is not much information available on the Cincinnati club however they are said to have a record that equals the Cabbies' if it is not better.

Have Marion Scouted

Also some of their players were on hand to witness the Marion, Dayton Bomber game at Dayton Sunday. It is not unlikely that they will, as a result, come to Marion prepared to tackle the center half the time that Marion is on offense and that they will be scanning the flats for sleepers every time Marion has the ball. The Cabbies' sleeper play, however, worked twice against the bombers when they were playing before a hostile crowd that should have given the play away, so maybe even the Dakotas will be caught napping.

The Marion club has not had much time for workouts this week, but are now at the point where their schedule is enough to keep them in condition for their contests. It has been getting dark too early for them to hold much of a practice in the evening and the chief preparation they make for the games is to hold a skull session before they're played.

Fetter Lauds Team

Commenting on this game in which the players will play for themselves Coach Gene Fetter said, "The boys have exhibited keen determination and sportsmanship throughout the season, deserving the plaudits of the sports fans of the city."

This is not the last game of the season for the Safety Cab gridiron gladiators as they have one left to be played Saturday night and another Thanksgiving afternoon.

The roster of the Safety Cab players is as follows. On the line: John Stine, Charles Smith, Harold Melvin, Gerald Obenour, Bill Fate, Max Roseberry, Willie Benson, Martin Lewis, Dan Cocherl, Howard Richardson, Ned Samples, Bob Strobel, Charles Lust, Bob Dull, Lester Russell, Jim Gilmore, Don Freese, Bob Richards, Vern Griffith, and James Montgomery.

Safety Cab backs are: Bob Higgins, Leo Belknap, Nick Cafagno, Clayton Harper, Leroy Harvey, Charles Greenwood, Fred Ruhl, Johnny Williams, Ed Simmons, and Bob Slatzer.

Also to be added to the Marion backfield is Bob Ivey who is likely to over shadow everything else on the field tonight. Ivey is a Marion boy who went to Dayton some months ago but has returned to his home town and is expected to be with the Cabbies in their remaining games.

Some of the players listed will not be in action tonight and a few of the others have a question mark before their name. Out for the season are Ned Samples and Bob Higgins while Nick Cafagno, Martin Lewis, and Howard Richardson may not be able to play.

GREEN CAMP POURS IT ON RADNOR 60-30

Special to The Star

GREEN CAMP, Nov. 20—The Green Camp Panthers, coached by Norman C. Roettger, began to roll last night in the local gymnasium as they took both games from Radnor. The varsity score was 60-30 and the reserve tilt found the locals on top 20-12.

Both teams were erratic in shooting from the free throw lane, neither team making half of the possible charity tosses.

The Panthers jumped into an early lead and were never headed. In the final stanza Radnor played their best ball in getting 13 points to the locals 18, due mainly to the fact the last period was played mostly by local reserves. Four of the Panthers left the game via personals and four of the opponents were banished the same way.

Wolfinger was high scorer with 16, followed by McLean with 12 and Hensel 11. D. Douglas with 10 points led the scoring for the Delaware countians.

TO SHOW PING PONG ISN'T SISSY'S GAME

Experts Ready for Table Tennis Exhibition at Y. M. C. A.

Those who think table tennis, better known to some as ping pong, is a soft sport should witness the exhibition to be put on by the Paddles Princes, Harry Cook and Doug Cortland, at the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow night.

Between the two players, both international champions, it is a toss-up as to which is the better. However, the average table tennis enthusiast is unable to hold a candle to either.

Cook and Cortland play an entirely different type of table tennis, Cook being a defensive player, and Cortland an offensive fancier. Cook's favorite tactic in an important match is to retreat from the table, and let his opponent wear himself out trying to slam one past him. At times he will go back more than 30 ft sending the ball back with a tremendous amount of underspin, keeping its bounce very low.

Cortland is the type of player who gives Cook the most trouble. Being an offensive player, he forces the game to his opponent, taking chances and at times, dropping a tantalizing high ball close to the net which could be easily slammed if Cook were coming in just a fraction of a second sooner.

Local players will be given a chance to challenge either of the champs and will be spotted 10 to 15 points in each contest. Cortland offers a $25 bond to any person who can beat him. So far of the over 3,000 who have tried for the prize none have come close to winning it.

DISCUSS ROSE BOWL STATUS. K. L. Wilson (left) of Chicago, Big Nine commissioner and Vic Schmidt of Los Angeles, Pacific Coast conference commissioner, discuss the meeting of delegates of the two conferences in Berkeley, Calif., to determine the future status of the Rose Bowl football classic.

Rose Bowl Door Slammed On Army; Big Nine Signs Up

By The Associated Press

BERKELEY, Calif., Nov. 20 — The Pacific Coast and Big Nine Conferences early today signed a five-year football agreement that slammed the Rose Bowl door in anxious Army's face and probably will send Illinois — which voted against the pact — into the world's highest bowl contest Jan. 1.

Illinois, ranking fifth nationally, is the potential Big Nine (Western Conference) champion, having only to win from Northwestern Saturday to clinch the title.

Undefeated University of California at Los Angeles, No. 4 college eleven, holds the edge over the once-beaten University of Southern California, rated tenth in the national football poll, to become the host team for the bowl. The issue will be decided when the two teams clash Saturday at Los Angeles.

Should UCLA and Illinois emerge as rivals in the tournament of Roses classic, the west would again see Buddy Young, fleet-footed Illini back who starred for the Fleet City Navy team on the west coast last year and for whom UCLA alumni were at one time reported bidding.

An official press release by the Big Nine-Pacific Coast negotiators made no mention of powerful Army, but the terms of the agreement left the Blanchard-Davis machine — number one in the nation—out in the cold.

The contract is effective immediately "for the Jan. 1, 1947, Rose Bowl game," with each conference to name a representative from within its own ranks.

Rose Buds For Illini

Forecaster Picks Them To Win; O.S.U. To Bow to Michigan.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Nov. 20—Taking one final jab at trying to present Saturday's winners today. So far we've picked 44 winners in games involving major midwestern teams, missed 18 times and had four ties for a percentage of .710.

Illinois 26, Northwestern 13—The Illini got over their biggest hurdle in beating Ohio State and are in a good spot to clinch their first Big Nine title since 1928.... They will enter the game at Evanston before a sellout crowd of 47,000 at near peak efficiency while Northwestern will be in its poorest condition of the year for the important contest....

Michigan 27, Ohio State 14—The Wolverines, now the top team in the conference in total offense with an average per game of 312.8 and also the best defensive club by holding foes to a net gain of 193.9, will shoot the works for a closing victory....A win, coupled with an Illinois defeat, would pass the Big Nine title to Michigan...But the Buckeyes, who almost upset the Illini last week on a wet field, still form one of the most potent outfits in the Big Nine, despite the loss of speedy Jerry Krall.

RICHWOOD CAGERS TO PLAY 17 TILTS

Will Battle in Both Mid-State and Union Co. Loops.

Richwood's cagers this year will play a 17-game schedule including participation in the Mid-State league and the Union County league. The team began working out Nov. 12 for their opener against Pleasant Nov. 29.

Coach R. D. Fetter who also handled the football team at Richwood has a picked squad of 16 boys, two of them letter winners, working out nightly and 20 freshmen are working out as a separate squad.

Last year Richwood won 8 of their 19 games, losing in the county only to a strong quintet from Magnetic Springs. The two players with the team this year, who also played varsity ball last year, are Smith, a senior, and Wall a junior.

Last year Richwood had a strong reserve team and Coach Fetter is relying on them in building this year. Players moving up from the reserves are Wiley and Norris, seniors, and Lyons, Wood, McElroy, Cowgill and Kate, juniors. Another player who is trying for a place on the team is T. Lyons, a senior, who, although he did not participate last year, may prove to be a capable performer.

Players from last year's freshman team moving up are Blue, Chapman, Cheney, Perkins, Stout and Stover.

Their regular schedule promises to be a tough one with teams such as Marion St. Mary, Marysville, Carey, Urbana and Magnetic Springs on the docket.

The Richwood schedule is: Nov. 29, Pleasant; Dec. 6, Urbana; Dec. 14, at Mt. Gilead; Dec. 17, Plain City; Dec. 20, at Raymond; Jan. 3, Byhalia; Jan. 7 at Sunbury; Jan. 10, Marysville; Jan. 14 at Magnetic Springs; Jan. 17, St. Mary; Jan. 21, at Carey; Jan. 24, Mt. Gilead; Jan. 28, York; Jan. 31, at Broadway; Feb. 4, Sunbury; Feb. 7 at Marysville, and Feb. 11 at St. Mary.

Toledo Waite Voted Best Ohio Schoolboy Team by INS Poll

Lima Central Ties for Third Spot While Mansfield Snags Ninth.

By JOHN BARRINGTON
INS Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 20—Toledo's Waite mighty Indians looked like a shoo-in for mythical state scholastic football honors today as sports writer participating in the weekly International News Service poll hastened to climb on Jack Mollenkopf's band wagon.

Waite's 60-to-6 trouncing of Devilbiss, the same intra-city rival it trounced 33-0 early in the season, boomed Indian stock to a new high. Where Waite had only a scant edge over Cleveland Cathedral Latin a week earlier, the race was hardly close this time.

Nomination of Waite for the top position in the state created a unique situation. First, it put a once-beaten club ahead of several undefeated elevens. Moreover, Toledo Liberty-Midseason conqueror of the Indians—continued to ride along in fifth position.

One Test Remains

One more test remains for Waite, a Thanksgiving day clash with Toledo Scott. That one apparently offers no problem for the might Tribesmen.

This season's series of polls will wind up next week. Most schools have completed their seasons. At least two mighty important games remain for play this weekend, however, one is the Cleveland charity game between Cathedral Latin and Holy Name. The other is the annual Massillon-Canton McKinley renewal.

Latin, idle last week, discovered there was no standing still in the grid race. Not only did the Lions lose ground to Waite, but two rivals came up so rapidly they pressed Herb Eisele's team for second place.

Lima in Deadlock

Canton McKinley's Bulldogs and Lima Central wound up in a deadlock for third position. McKinley won its eighth victory against a loss and a tie by tripping previously unbeaten Lakewood, 13 to 7.

Lima Central put a roaring finish on the finest season a Lima team ever has enjoyed. Coach Seraph Pope's crew wrecked South, 32 to 0, for the most one-sided victory ever achieved in the city series. It was the tenth straight win for Central, first undefeated team in Lima's history.

The deadlock put things squarely up to the coming Massillon-McKinley battle. As if the classic rivalry weren't enough, the Tigers can find added incentive in their desire to better their own position.

Winds Up 10th

Massillon wound up tenth in the second straight week despite its two defeats and a tie. The handy way in which Bud Houghton's club down Youngstown East, 20 to 7, bore out the scribes' judgment.

Trailing fifth place Libbey came Youngstown Woodrow Wilson again. The Presidents rested their laurels, having finished an unbeaten season a week earlier.

Seventh and eighth spots, too, remained in the hands of incumbents. Cincinnati Purcell and Steubenville Central Catholic.

Ninth position found Mansfield returning to the Big Ten, supplanting Campbell Memorial. Decisive factor in the Tyger rise apparently was the 32-14 victory over Martins Ferry with which they closed the year.

L. W. St. John, Who's Heard Buckeye Wolves Howl, To Be Honored Friday

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 20—The man who long has shouldered most of the blame for Ohio State's football reverses comes in for some glory here on the eve of the annual game with Michigan....

L. W. St. John, athletic director and a dominant figure in Ohio State athletics since 1912, will be honored by some 300 members of the school's Varsity "O" association at a banquet Friday....

St. John, who has reached the retirement age of 70 and will bow out next summer, first heard the howl of the wolves back in 1913 when he named a rookie coach from Wisconsin, J. W. Wilce, as Ohio State's football mentor. Wilce, however, led the Bucks to their first Western Conference title three years later....

Since then, with St. John at the helm, Ohio has chalked up six more grid titles, five in basketball, two in baseball, many others in the minor sports field as well as a trio of national swimming titles....

Among the Varsity "O" members slated to assemble to honor the man who formerly coached baseball, basketball and football at Ohio State and served outside as a major league baseball scout as well as head of intercollegiate basketball's rules committee for many years, are Senator-Elect John W. Bricker....

A baseball letter-winner who'll act as toastmaster, and George (Red) Trautman, former Buck baseball coach and now general manager of the Detroit Tigers, who'll deliver the only speech at the gathering....

Fred Cornell who wrote Ohio State's alma mater, "Carmen Ohio," and Bill Daugherty, who authored the "Fight the Team Across the Field," also will be on hand.

LATIN NIXES WAITE TITLE

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 20 — A bid from Toledo Waite High school officials for a post-season game to decide the mythical Ohio scholastic football championship was rejected yesterday by Cleveland Cathedral Latin. Rev. James M. Darby, Latin athletic director, said his school was limited to a 10-game schedule and would play its tenth contest Saturday with Cleveland Holy Name.

U.C.L.A. Boasts Best Grid Offensive Mark

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 — The best offensive record in college football is owned today by the all-victorious Bruins of UCLA, who stake their claim to the Pacific Coast Conference championship and their hopes for a Rose Bowl berth on Saturday's struggle with Southern California.

Statistics announced by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau show that the Bruins jumped from third to first place among the nation's offensive leaders by rolling up a combined total of 562 yards in their 61-7 route of Montana last week, 387 of them on the ground.

BIG GATE ASSURED

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 20 — About 2,000 Ohio State students who neglected to pick up season tickets for home football games have claimed them for Saturday's Ohio State-Michigan homecoming classic, assuring an attendance for more than "the usual sellout of 76,000" fans, Bill Snypp, university athletic publicist, said today.

Bucks Polish Offensive Plays For Michigan Game Saturday

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 20—Ohio State's footballers will have a double dose of new offensive stuff to throw at Michigan's Wolverines in their tradition-steeped, Big Nine football tussle here Saturday.

Coach Paul Bixler said his Bucks in practice this week are "adding some new plays to cope with the Michigan defense."

"And we still have some other unused stuff that we didn't get a chance to unfold against Illinois last week," he added.

Lost in "Rain Bowl"

The Bucks lost, 16 to 7, to Illinois on a rain-soaked gridiron that submerged the razzle-dazzle of both teams' attacks.

Bixler said some of that "new stuff" would be designed to give them the scoring punch that might have made the difference in the two games they've lost and the two they've tied this season.

The Bucks, lacking touchdown power inside the 20-yard line, have blown at least 15 scoring chances this year. They missed at least five opportunities against Missouri in that 14-14 tie on opening day; two against Wisconsin as they bowed 20-7; two more in that 14-14 tie with Purdue; three in their 39-9 rout of Minnesota; once against Pittsburgh, and twice against Illinois.

Pittsburgh halted the Bucks' ground game four times inside the 10-yard line, but quarterback George Spencer threw three touchdown passes that erased those goal line stands and gave Ohio a 20-13 triumph.

No Close Ones Wanted

"We don't want to lose any close ones against Michigan," Bixler asserted.

The Bucks' hopes for victory in this 43rd meeting with the Wolverines brightened yesterday with the word that right halfback Alex Verdova's injured knee had mended and that he'd be able to go Saturday. Verdova twisted the knee against Illinois.

Left halfback Jerry Krall, understudy for Tommy James, who starts at that position, put on a uniform yesterday for the first time since injuring his knee in the Pittsburgh game. But from the way Krall hobbled about the field, there's small chance that he will be in condition to play Saturday.

As the Bucks polished up offensive plays they didn't get a chance to use against Illinois, some excellent pass-catching was demonstrated by Bob Brugge, James, Ernie Parks, Cy Souders and Stan Dixon.

MORRAL CAGERS TRIP EDISON UNDER 52-25

MORRAL, Nov. 20 — Morral High school basketeers gave Iberia a 57-28 drubbing last night here in an inter-county contest. It was Morral's second win in as many starts.

Morral's Radel was individual star of the night, flipping in 32 points, enough to sink Iberia alone. The visitors stayed with their opponents in the second and third quarters but a slow start and finish cost them the game.

The Morral reserves made it a home-team night by defeating the Iberia reserves 27-10.

SZASZ VS. NENOFF TOP MAT PROGRAM

Promoter Fishbaugh has signed Al Szasz and Steve Nenoff for a return bout Thursday night at the Marion Armory. These two met last Thursday and Steve came out second best with a bump on his head and right away asked for a return match. It was a "honey" of a match up to the second fall when it looked like Nenoff's fall until he was sent flying through the ropes to land on the floor. After that it was "duck soup" for Szasz to pin the tough Bulgarian, who up to that time had been winning over everybody, including Farmer Jones. They will meet in the two hour main event, best two out of three falls.

A dandy semi-final has been signed in which Gordon Hessell, the Milwaukee boy with the perfect body will meet the ever unpopular Gentleman Dale Haddock of Detroit. While the main event holds a lot of wrestling in it, not so for the semi-final, for while Hessell likes to wrestle according to the rules, he will be up against an opponent who likes to wrestle plenty rough.

The prelim which will open the program at 8:30 will be a little different for it will be three rounds of boxing between Dick Merton and Jim Garver.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 20—More than 200 farm boys and girls from four states competed for honors for their baby beeves today at the 14th annual livestock show and sale at the Pittsburgh stockyards.

Entries included 349 fat young steers from southwestern Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia and Maryland, and 142 fat lambs from Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia. All exhibitors are members of 4-H clubs or Future Farmers of America groups, and all animals were reared as club projects.

Exhibitors include Dale Crozier of Zanesville, whose Aberdeen-Angus won the grand championship of the 1945 show and sold for top money of $4.25 per pound. He returned this year with another Angus weighing about 1,100 pounds.

STOCKS REGAIN SOME DEGREE OF BALANCE

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 20—Stocks regained a measure of balance after an early dip in today's market but remained in lower ground.

Extreme caution ruled customers' commitments pending the outcome of the bituminous coal crisis ,since a mine shutdown would have widespread effects on industrial production and transportation. The comebacks which trimmed early losses were credited by brokers to bidding, based on technical considerations by those holding the view that the market was ready to respond to any favorable news.

Dealings were sluggish most of the time, and losses of fractions to more than a point were numerous near the fourth hour.

Lower were U. S. Steel, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, American Water Works, Santa Fe, Great Northern Preferred, Youngstown Sheet, American Telephone, General Motors, Goodyear, Kennecott, American Smelting, Air Reduction, Republic Steel, Electric Power and Light and Western Union "A." Resistant were Goodrich (on declaration of a special dividend), Dow Chemical and Public Service of N. J. (on a raised dividend.)

SAYS GERMANY NEAR COLLAPSE

U. S. General Sees Disaster Unless Potsdam Pact Is Lived Up To.

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, Nov. 20 — Brig. Gen. William H. Draper Jr., said today that Germany, after more than a year of four-power occupation, was headed for economic collapse and that the only cure was fulfillment of the Potsdam declaration or revision of that declaration.

Draper is chief of the economics division of the American military government. He stated his views in the introduction to a 220-page, multi-colored, magazine-style special review entitled "A Year of Potsdam," prepared by the economics division.

Across the front cover is printed this excerpt from the Big Three's Potsdam declaration:

"During the period of occupation Germany shall be treated as an economic unit."

Draper asserted that Germany's economic troubles were chiefly attributable to failure to fulfill this pledge. He said that throughout the past year the Americans had pressed for wiping out Germany's zonal boundaries and finally formally offered merger of their zone with any or all the other three zones.

"Potsdam must be carried out as a whole or it must be revised," he said.

He said that unless this were done it would be impossible to carry out the plan for reparations. He said that under present conditions the United States was spending about "$200,000,000 a year — over $500,000 per day — to prevent starvation, disease and unrest in the U. S. zone" and added that, without free trade with the rest of Germany, the American zone would never be able to pay its own way.

COAL STOPPAGE TO HIT STEEL QUICKLY

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 20—Complete stoppage of coal production at this time could reduce the steel industry's operating rate within one week to around 80 per cent of capacity, compared with the current 91.5 per cent, The Iron Age, national metalworking paper, said today.

A prolonged mine tie-up, the publication said, would "undo a substantial part of the progress made toward the establishment of a normal steel market," and plunge the country in to a period of "hit-and-miss production schedules and shortages."

"Unless the coal crisis is passed quickly," it said, "there is the bitter possibility that the steel operating rate will not only sag to a much lower level, but will not regain current levels for two or three months, if then."

UN Control Of Polar Regions Seen Essential

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Is it possible to place the relatively "free areas" of the world under United Nations control now, thereby establishing the first tiny toe-hold of world government in practice?

The question pops up immediately in consideration of the suggestion by Prof. Leo Gross, of the school of law and diplomacy at Tufts college, that such a step be taken in Antarctica to forestall an international race for domination of that area.

So far, such claims as have been laid by different nations to parts of Antarctica are on a rather tenuous basis. The United States holds that mere discovery does not constitute a "staked claim" in such areas, although they have been made in the names of various countries including the United States, France, Norway and even Japan. Argentina and Chile claim some rights of contiguity, and the British expedition which has been in the area for two years may meet at least a part of the U. S. contention that development and occupation, not discovery dates, are the important factors.

Uranium Complicates Issue

Prof. Gross infers that the suspected presence of uranium in Antarctica might make it a very difficult problem if its solution is left until vested interests are established. He doesn't mention the Arctic, although his argument would seem to apply equally well in an area which is under discussion because of its military location.

The Gross plan would seem to be even more logical in connection with the attempt to give the United Nations control over the sources of atomic energy. If, as seems quite likely, the possibility of finding uranium outweighs the generally-professed reasons for the various pending expeditions into the Antarctic, the UN might avoid trouble by stepping in now instead of later.

One Dispute Already

There is already one minor dispute in this field. Britain has submitted a tentative UN trusteeship agreement for Tanganyika which contains a clause reserving control of the country's mining. The United States protests that equal trading rights should be allowed UN members in all areas under trusteeship. The division of opinion didn't seem to mean much until it was revealed that, although not yet found in workable quantities pitchblende in the area contains uranium salts, thorium and other radio-active materials.

Recipe For Soap Given

Library Makes Information Available; Six-Months Hitch Noted.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Nov. 20—Look ladies, there is a way to beat the soap shortage—make your own But you have to wait from three to six months before using it.

Cincinnati's public library, running short on books pertaining to soap making, has made available to local householders a mimeographed recipe on how to make up a batch of their own

Here's the equipment you need two enameled pans (one two-quart and one six-quart). One wooden spoon or paddle. One pint measure A thermometer. A measuring cup. Shallow pasteboard boxes for molds lined with waxed paper The ingredients six pounds fat, two and one-half pints cold water and one can high-test lye.

The temperatures are important. Follow this chart

Kind of Fat	Temperature of fat	of lye sol.
Sweet lard or other soft fat	80-85	70-75
Lard and tallow (half and half)	100-110	80-85
All tallow	120-130	90-95
Soft rancid fat	97-100	70-80

Melt fat to a clear liquid and allow to cool to proper temperature. Add lye to the water and stir and bring to proper temperature Pour the lye solution in a thin stream into fat while stirring steadily in one direction Continue for 10 or 20 minutes until spoon leaves a decided track in mixture Then it is ready to pour

When soap is thick, pour into moulds and cover to retain heat Allow to set for 24 to 48 hours until it has hardened Cut into small bars with a heavy string or fine wire and stack in log cabin fashion to allow complete hardening. The soap should be allowed to stand from three to six months before using

G.O.P. Tax Reduction Plan May Hit Snag

WASHINGTON, Nov 20—Increasing opposition indicated today that Republican leaders may run into a major fight against their plan for a quick 20 per cent reduction in individual income taxes once congress meets

In talks with reporters, two more G O P house members—Reps. Curtis and Miller of Nebraska—add their voices to those of scattering party members already questioning its wisdom

On the Democratic side, veteran Rep Doughton of North Carolina took a firm stand against any tax reduction until the federal budget is blanced and a start made on reducing the federal debt

Doughton guided the writing of Democratic tax legislation for 14 years and his views usually command a large following in his party

Miller and Curtis both said they considered reducing expenditures and the debt more important than immediate cuts in taxes.

Persuasion Urged For Fair Employment Laws

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov 20—State laws pertaining to fair employment practices should be persuasive in nature, and not mandatory with punitive clauses, spokesmen for the 11th convention of the national employment board believe

"The Indian law is not severe," said Ancil T Brown of Indianapolis, president of the board "It proposes to bring about fair employment practices through education. An intelligent application of the law is made effective through employer-employe cooperation"

Brown, discussing the legislation in yesterday's board sessions, reported Indiana had few complaints of violations of its act.

"Casual" Reasons for Having Children Blamed for "Emotional Locking Out"

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O, Nov. 20 — "Casual reasons for which a surprising number of persons have children" were blamed by an Ohio welfare conference speaker today for "an emotional locking out of the child, which is sheer tragedy for the parent, child and society"

Dr. Douglas D. Bond of Cleveland, professor of psychiatry at Western Reserve university, made the statement in addressing a divisional meeting on juvenile delinquency, one of several seminars concluding the four-day convention of the welfare conference.

Parents of all social and intellectual levels too frequently fail to regard the child as a human being—"an individual with desires, rights and abilities," Dr Bond declared.

He attributed this in part to "casual and perverted reasons" for having children, and listed some of these as

"Hope that a child will mend a breaking marriage, rivalry with a neighbor, or a brother or sister; to create an image of themselves so they can, in a way, live again, forcing the child to fulfill the things they missed in life regardless of the child's desires; ignorance or neglect of birth control, for security and comfort in old age and for extra labor children give."

At the welfare convention's final general sessions last night A. David Bouterse of Columbus, executive director of the Ohio welfare council, said the council would ask the next legislature to increase the state's contribution for poor relief, child welfare and hospitalization of the indigent to 75 per cent and to furnish "a greater share of the cost" in counties with the least ability to pay

Retiring conference President Raymond P. Smith of Lima, Allen county juvenile court judge, said that "the need for specialized services has far outstripped the supply of such specialists" in the field of social work Judge Smith advocated higher salaries to attract additional personnel.

Hal H Griswold of Cleveland, former state welfare director and now president of the Cleveland welfare federation, was unopposed for new conference president

G.O.P. Weighs Senate Committee Control

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20—Republicans may seize heavy-handed control of four top senate committees in order to tighten their grip over the sources of legislation in the new G.O.P.-dominated congress

While no final decision had been made, Republican leaders indicated today they hope to squeeze the number of Democrats below the minority average on the appropriations and labor committees

They may also do it on two or a half dozen other important groups, including the new merged services committee, foreign relations, banking and currency, judiciary, rules and the newly combined interstate and foreign commerce committee

This would increase the Republican voting edge in the most powerful committees, where legislation vitally affecting the nation's interests is put into preliminary form—and where legislation G.O.P leaders don't want can be bottled up

Programs on the Air

NEW YORK, Nov. 20—Something different in football broadcasting is to be attempted Saturday afternoon by CBS. It intends to put on two games at once, or nearly so.

Both are Big Nine battles, Michigan vs. Ohio State at Columbus and Illinois vs. Northwestern at Evanston.

With the former game starting at 2, Red Barber will tell about it until 2:30, when Illinois-Northwestern opens. Then the network will switch to Gene Shumate for the opening of that, and thereafter the broadcast will go back and forth between the two events, in accordance, it is hoped, with high-spot developments.

Raymond Swing, a network commentator since 1939 and all through the war years, is to conclude his current ABC series next Jan. 3. Elmer Davis, beginning Jan. 6, will take over all of Swing's periods, putting him on five times a week.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

MARION'S face flushed, at my thrust, and, if I had not been driven by stark necessity, I would have been deeply ashamed of myself for reminding her of the time when her credulity and her loyalty to Carolyn had caused us all, and most especially her mother, so long a period of horrible suspense, and also had made her own hold on life so precarious that she only missed death by the traditional eyelash.

"I guess I needed that," she said at last. "I made such a colossal idiot of myself that time, and again when I didn't come straight to Mother or you with Daddy Brixton's problem, that I have no right to quibble over anything. But—Oh, Auntie Madge, to spy on my 'roomie,' on Ronald's sister—it's—"

"I know, darling," I said with infinite sympathy in my voice, and, drawing her into my arms, held her close for a second. Then I stepped back, and made my voice stern again.

"However," I said, "make no mistake, it is something that has to be done. Whether from sheer irresponsibility, or because her mother is putting her up to it, she is acting like a curious squirrel, trying to pick up every last crumb of information she can.

"I am sure she will try to wander over the entire farmhouse, and outside it, as far as the guards will let her," I went on, "and I cannot impress upon you too much, that if she found out anything about that secret room, or overheard some conversation not intended for her, the consequences might well spell disaster not only to Ronald but to the war effort as well."

"I can understand that," Marion said steadily, "and I am ready to do whatever you wish. Tell me just what I am to do."

"Spoken like my own brave girl," I said. "And I do not believe you will have to report on her much if you play your cards right. Just don't leave her for a second when she is outside her own room or her mother's, and try to keep her interested in the things you like to do together so she won't have time to indulge her curiosity.

The Locked Attic

"If she wants to know why the attic is kept locked," I went on, "say that you do not know, and that she will have to ask me. I will have an excuse ready for her if she comes to me.

"Above all," I finished, "do not let her guess that you know anything at all about what is going on."

She smiled wanly.

"Then," she said tremulously, "don't tell me anything."

"We won't," I said, "until the danger of her knowing is over. Then, you shall hear the whole story, that is,' I added, and hoped that my chagrin did not show in my voice, "as much as your mother and Aunt Katharine and I know. My father limits his counsels mostly to the men here in the household. But that is perfectly all right."

She looked at me with eyes that suddenly held admiration and sympathy.

The Best Sport

"Auntie Madge," she said, "I think you are the best sport in the world, and I'm going to do the very best I can to help you in this thing. I'll come to you with everything I think suspicious, but you don't blame me if I'm glad when I don't find anything."

"I should censure you severely if you felt any other way," I told her. "But, just remember, that even trivial things may be important."

"I'll remember," she said, and I rose to go, still with something that I felt should be said.

"Dear Girl!" I said abruptly, for I could think of no way to minimize my words. "Are you keeping any secret for Ronald's father?"

She paled and flinched, and her answer was evasive.

„Why should you think that?" she queried.

I shot a glance at her agitated face, then went back to the chair, looking at my wrist watch as I did so. Yes, I still had time to go into this most ticklish subject.

Your answer tells me that I was thinking along the right lines," I said.
